Each individual piece was counted, and the new Treasurer, Geo. W. Richard, will have a clean field to work in.

THE CATTLE SHORTAGE.

The Ranges Swept Clean and Beef on the Rise.

One who has not travelled over this State has but little idea of the terrible ravages of last winter's snows on the cattle herds.

In the counties of the East, the desert is dotted with the carcasses of steers and the ravines are full of them.

They lie in the streams of water, under the stunted cedars, among the rocks, in the sagebrush and everywhere.

The reports from the leading cattle men of the losses are all underrated. No big cattleman is heard of today seeking a gubernatorial nomination because the terrible winter crippled every one of them and they are letting politics alone and tending to their regular business. Some men in this State have lost as high as 5,000 head. The country is absolutely destitute of steer cattle of suitable ages for feeders. The entire list of corn-growing states is steerless, outside of feeding pens. The range country has but few, and the demand is increasing daily. A practical feeder in Nebraska, who has been engaged in the business for eighteen years in that State and in Iowa, tells the Northwest Live Stock Journal that he has ridden over three counties in Nebraska in search of feeding steers, and failed to secure a single animal over one year old. In order to get a small bunch of 125 he was compelled to take half of that number in heifers. These he is now feeding on corn for the market next winter. A visit to the feeding yards throughout the corn-growing States will develop the fact that in a very large proportion of them, both heifers and steer yearlings are being grained for the shambles. Why? Not because they are the most profitable but because there is nothing else to be had.

This is the direct result of the wholesale slaughter of cows, calves and yearlings that has been going on three years in every part of the United States, and the resulting shortage will become more and more apparent for the next three years. Growing out of this condition, the price of cattle on foot must rapidly appreciate from month to month until there will come a veritable boom in all classes of beef articles. How high prices will go and when the top will be reached are question no man can answer. That the history of the past will be repeated is certain, and that the day of return to low values is in the far future is especially certain. The men who get in at the present bottom prices are the men who will reap the sure reward.

Around Robinhood's Barn. Delegates from a number of California counties have to pass through Nevada's capital and Reno to get to the capital of the Golden State to attend the State Convention. Members of the Legislature from those counties have to do the same. It is the only way that they can cross the mountains, the summit of which ought to be the boundary line between the two States.

The State Primaries.

The New Constitution.

Section 2, Article I of the present Constitution provides that in civil cases if three-fourths of the jury agree upon a verdict it shall stand and have the same effect as a verdict by the whole jury. The proposed new Constitution adds to this a proviso that the Legislature, by a law passed by a two-thirds vote of all the members to each branch thereof, may prescribe the same rule in criminal cases.

Section 20, Article IV prohibiting the passing of local or special laws in certain cases, the paragraph which in the present Constitution reads: "Regulating county and township business," is changed to read: "Regulating the election of county and township officers." In Section 25, same Article, which provides that "The Legislature shall establish a system of county and township government, which shall be uniform throughout the State," the words "which shall be uniform" are omitted from the new document.

Mrs. Ohl Speaks.

The following appeared in the Enterprise of yesterday.

EDITOR ENTERPRISE—Dear Sir: Wishing to inform the public, and also to contradict the false statement that appeared in Tuesday evening's Chronicle concerning the punishment of a wife beater, I want the public to distinctly understand that the punishment was not merited, but was done through spite of a gang of drunken wood-drivers. The ringleader is a contemptible villain of the lowest type a disgrace to Empire City and Ormsby county in general. If he received a coat of tar and feathers it would not be more than he deserved. Yours,

Mrs. G. J. Ohl.

Empire City, Nev., Aug. 13, 1890.

Not Much in the Offices.

The News, commenting on the fact that there are no announcements for nominations in its columns, says there is not an office in White Pine county worth fighting for or expending money on.
